SUMMERHILL LAW BOOK

Autumn term 2011

Latest printing 13th September 2011

Notes about Freedom and Licence

In Summerhill “freedom” means individual freedom. This means that you can do what you like, so long as it does not interfere with the freedom of somebody else. So, you can wear no clothes if you want to, dye your hair bright pink, and never attend any classes at all, because that is your own business –but you cannot play your music at 3:00 am, pee on the lounge floor, or skateboard in the corridor because it affects other people.

The Summerhill laws generally define this difference between freedom and licence, though some are there to protect particular people or things.

Just because there is not a law against it –does not necessarily mean that you can do it!

And if there is a law that you don’t think is good –bring it up in the Meeting!
